GENERAL NEWS.

[The bill is aimed, of course, at President Johnson.]

Taking the internal revenue returns as a basis of estimate, the production of gold in the fiscal year 1866 is calculated at $93,219,374. The production of gold in 1865 was estimated at $73,544,359, an increase in 1866 of $19,675,015.

It is stated at Washington that the object of the Government in regard to Mexican affairs is not to establish a protectorate over Mexico but to form an alliance, offensive and defensive, with Juarez.

At a wooden wedding in Detroit, on Tuesday evening, a joke was perpetrated by a person who was unable to be present. He sent his regrets written on a shingle.

VIRGINIA TRADE.—The persistence with which some of our citizens still continue to patronize the Northern markets in preference to their own, sometimes reminds us of the old fable in which the other members of the body declared war upon the indolent stomach, and combined in an attempt to starve out that worthless member of the frame with a success which will be remembered by all readers of the story in question. People exclaim "how absurd" was such conduct, and yet it is not without a counterpart in the mercantile transactions of too large a portion of the Southern people. In our body politic we may compare the rural districts to the actively laboring members of the body, while the great Commercial and Manufacturing centres may be compared not inaptly to the stomach which receives the food produced by the other members, and assimilating and digesting it in a manner which adds to the general health and prosperity of the whole frame, returns to the most distant extremities through the railroads (which may be likened to the arteries) the nutritive elements which it has received.

The welfare of our cities and rural districts is therefore inseparable, and one cannot be deprived of its natural nourishment without a corresponding injury being inflicted on the other. If the stomach be starved the infatuated body must languish, and it is only when all the members are healthy that the whole frame can develop its most vigorous efforts.

Our people have too long been unmindful of these plain old truths, but the time has come when they should no longer indulge in a blindness which is ruinous to the best interests of their State and section. We must rely upon ourselves; we must be true to each other; we must ignore as far as possible extraneous interests, and consult our own, by the production at home of every article needed in the house and in the field.

The money paid into Northern coffers by Virginia alone would, if retained at home, make our country almost an Eden; would build up factories and fleets, and colleges, and guarantee employment and competence to every citizen.

If the good work has been long delayed, so much more pressing are the reasons for commencing it immediately, and prosecuting it vigorously, until it shall have reached a glorious completion. —Richmond Enquirer.
